ADVERTISING.

The Daily Courier has double the circulation of any other daily newspaper in this county. It is the only paper that presents each week a new and different page. It is the only paper that is recognized as the organ of the community. Its weekly reviews are accepted as authority by the trade generally and by the statistical authorities of the State and Federal Governments. It has a general circulation in rural districts of 100,000 copies and among the operators, consumers and others interested in the trade every day.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 4, 1906.

Greensburg is trying to reform its police force by the adoption of certain rules for the government. The same plan has been tried in Connellsville. How the plan will work remains to be seen. The rules are well enough in itself, but it is observed that it is often much easier to make rules than it is to enforce them.

The Gallatin hotel case made at least one man sick.

McCleopore's two daily papers are confessedly owned by syndicates, yet both are in favor of busting the trusts. The average reader is eager to bust every trust but his own.

The Laborer is worthy of his hire and the Librarian of his support and both should be paid promptly.

The public school commencement will be the beginning of the battle of life with some of the graduates. The better the equipment the better the chances of winning, but those who object to the enlargement of the curriculum should bear this fact in mind.

The New Haven postoffice plant will be harder to shake the bigger it grows.

People who can't play Bridge now are not in the Four Hundred. They have to play in the Five Hundred. And if they can't play either they are no in it at all.

The spring advertising pressure is pinching the editorial page.

Favor Guthrie. His name is the only one of supporting that his Democratic friends were honest when they showed reform. It is not reform they want. It is the offices.

The mad dog problem is getting more serious.

The Personal Liability bill has passed the House. Congress is still "caulding" the bill. The absence of the press privilege would be a costly but it is information will be more costly.

The carpenters have advanced their wages again. They are covering their shins but the covering will grow shyer as the spring grows longer.

Some of our local fishermen are accused of planting trout by secret places. This is contrary to public policy but the Walton who walk away with the trout, no doubt, do not care that they are caught as a reward for their labor in the first chance at the spot.

Connellsville's centennial is to be held on July 4th or 5th. It ought to get a gun on.

A large number of the School Directors of Connellsville were present at the last meeting. This is a bad omen for the school.

No Other Pennsylvania Store Has Grown Like This.

To be successful for a short time means nothing. Dishonesty succeeds some times—for a little while. If there's rottenness at the root, the tree won't thrive. If, however, a business grows and grows and continues to grow—it must be sound and clean in root, in branch, in principle and practice.

And if our store shows a greater and sounder growth than any other store in the same city—that one store must of necessity deserve every dollar's worth of prosperity that comes to it.

No store in the city has ever grown so amazingly as Aaron's.

Just think of it—the greatest furniture and carpet store in the state of Pennsylvania. And this in a territory which was said when we first came here to be overcrowded with furniture stores—in a city where other furniture stores, it is true, have shown practically no growth at all.

You can't explain these things away. You cannot dismiss them with a wave of the hand.

The reason that a majority of the people of Western Pennsylvania who buy furniture—a big majority—have found this to be the highest class and yet the most saving and satisfactory of its kind in the city.

We carry more customers on our books today than all the other furniture houses in the city combined. All these customers have "shopped" and compared and any of all of them will tell you that "you'll do better at Aaron's," better in price and better in value.

We do not hesitate to say that our furniture, despite its high standard, is bought on a closer basis than that of any other furniture house in the city.

We do not hesitate to say that we buy a greater volume of furniture, carpet, etc., than any other store in the western part of the state. We do not hesitate to say that

You'll Do Better at Aaron's

We may have made, in the foregoing statement, some claims that seem sensational. Well, in some ways are claims our sensational, because it is a somewhat sensational matter we are speaking of—a sensational growth of a store which we hope you are proud of.

You may not know it, but the furniture men of the whole United States know the details of our rapid forward strides and they use us as an example in speaking of wonderful gains and the beauty of square dealing.

Our new store, which we are now occupying, has been pictured in trade papers and magazines and has been cited in one instance as "the greatest and most completely equipped store in any city of less than 200,000 inhabitants in the United States."

We hope you will pardon the length of this talk today on the ground that we are enthusiastic about the new place—but at the same time we want you to recollect that every statement made in this announcement has been weighed as carefully as a piece of gold and, as they say in Missouri, we are prepared to SHOW YOU.

Store Closes at 6 P. M. Except Monday and Saturday.
